WHY IS ALL BERBERINE RESEARCH COMING FROM CHINA?

We have just posted QUOTE GM #35 today, which you will hopefully read. It has been published in July 2018 by Journal Frontiers in Pharmacology.

If you want to access more educative articles about benefits of berberine to fight diseases linked to oxidative stress and inflammation, I invite you to explore my website www.gmouton.com under the tab "REFERENCES".

Go to "HERBS" and then to "BERBERINE": you will find 2 abstracts and 5 full-texts duly highlighted to facilitate your inquiry. For the ones who will have a look, please pay attention to authors of these seven articles being published in last 15 months. See it? All come from Chinese Universities!

If you are interested in my view about this unusual situation, I am happy to share. As safe natural substance (alkaloid found in many plant species), berberine possesses such a potential that it terrifies Western medicine... whereas it has been used for 5,000 years in China by traditional doctors.

Be ready to face genuine revolution in the treatment of not only metabolic syndrome and insulin resistance, but also prediabetes and diabetes type 2. Berberine is coming and it will hit hard, both diabetes and its drug empire.
